Presenter >> Credit cards often provide limited travel insurance coverage. It's important that you educate yourself on exactly what benefits are included and the amount of coverage you may have before you travel.

00:00:16 - 00:00:32

Presenter >> For example, trip cancellation interruption coverage is often limited to a specific amount per passenger and may not cover the full cost of the trip. There may also be age restrictions on medical coverage that limits the days of coverage once you reach a certain age.

Presenter >> With these examples top of mind, CAA has created a know your coverage checklist. The checklist provides you with questions you can ask your credit card provider to help you better understand your coverage or to know where it may be lacking. The checklist can be downloaded from our website at caasco.com/educateme or you can visit one of your local CAA Stores to pick one up.

00:00:56 - 00:01:03

Presenter >> Knowing your coverage will help you make an informed decision about whether you need additional travel insurance and allow you to travel with confidence.
